

Sanchez wines come from some of the best hand-picked grapes in the wine region of D.O. La Mancha, Spain. Several small growers combine their efforts and produce these wines together by bringing their harvests into one winery, Bodega La Remediadora. This co-operative winemaking allows small producers to maintain the quality of their grapes while achieving a large enough volume as a whole to produce and export wines. The wines are made in a natural style of winemaking, minimizing the use of chemicals and allowing the grapes to express themselves and the land where they come from. Clean, balanced and vibrant are some of the fine qualities the winemaker focused on while making these wines.
