Ruby Port

History: Quinta do Convento de São Pedro das Águias is an iconic property, situated in the Távora valley, Portugal. The Quinta has been integral to Douro's history. Dating back to the 12th century when monks from the Cistercian Order settled on the estate and contributed to the start of wine growing in the region. The history and extraordinary terroir set this property apart from other estates and remains a reference point for PORT and DOC Douro wines.

Tasting notes: Deep red color with a fruity bouquet showing slight but good evolution of balsamic notes and a slightly spicy aroma. Nice richness and aromatic freshness giving it substantial volume and smoothness on the palate. Well-balanced quality fruit resulting in a long and elegant finish.

Winemakers: Diogo Lopes and Maria Susete Melo

Appellation: DOP

Varietals: Field blend of traditional Douro varietals

Soil: Schist and granite Vine Age: 30 years

Harvest: Manual harvest into 18kg boxes Production: 4 tons per ha

Winemaking: Fully destemmed and put into open top fermenters with the cap worked to maximize extraction of anthocyanins and tannins. Alcoholic fermentation for about 3 days to reach intended sugar level. Brandy is added at this point to arrest alcoholic fermentation. After a few rackings, the wine is aged in stainless steel tanks for 3 years.

pH: 3.41 RS: 96 grams per liter Alc: 19% UPC: 5 605769 242040

D.O.C DOURO: The oldest demarcated region in the world, declared in 1756 and made a World Heritage by UNESCO in 2001. Renowned for Ports, Douro is becoming recognized for their powerful red and white wines. Mountainous and rugged topography rich in history and schist soils! The region follows the course of the river from the Spanish border and is broken up into 3 sub-regions. Baixa, (fertile, cooler and receives most the little rainfall Douro gets) Cima Corgo, (heartland and where most Port production occurs), and Douro Superior (very cold in the winter, scorching hot in summer, the largest of the regions).
